Subject: An open letter to Governor Kasich: fund transit now!

Policy Matters Ohio

Dear Governor Kasich: fund transit now!

[A slew of Ohio organizations jointly sent a statement to Governor Kasich on Wednesday, December 14, requesting that the governor address Ohio's staggering underfunding of mass transit. This blog excerpts most of what they requested with some minor edits for clarity.]

Dear Governor Kasich:

As you know, according to the 2015 Ohio Department of Transportation (ODOT) Transit Needs study, the state of Ohio needs $192.4 million in capital and $96.7 million in operating funds just to meet existing demand for public transportation services. An additional $273.5 million in one-time funding is needed to address system backlog and bring Ohio's transit fleet to a state of good repair.

Ohio's under-investment in public transit, over the past several decades, has left our public transit system lacking. Lack of widespread public transportation limits low-income workers' ability to get to jobs, stunting their ability to support themselves and their families. It also leaves too many people with disabilities as well as those who are aging essentially homebound, making it difficult for them to access the grocery store, the doctor's office, and to meet their other needs with dignity.

Ohio currently allocates little more than 1 percent of its entire transportation budget towards public transit; unfortunately, that meager investment ranks Ohio 47th out of all other states for its commitment to public transportation.

We, Ohioans for Transportation Equity, recommend Ohio invest at least 10 percent of its transportation budget in public transit as well as safe bicycling and pedestrian infrastructure and education, and stand ready to work with you to act upon ODOT's Transit Needs Study findings.

Ohio needs a 21st century transportation system made up not only of roads and highways but also a complete network of affordable, accessible and environmentally-friendly transportation options, including public transit, passenger and freight rail, streetcars, hybrid buses, electric vehicles and walkable, bikeable streets.

For low-income Ohioans, the cost of driving is often prohibitively expensive, and for the elderly and those with disabilities, driving may not be an option at all. Indeed, data indicates that 8.4 percent of Ohio households have no access to an automobile. Transportation also accounts for roughly 25 percent of all emissions in Ohio and half of the $51.4 billion we spend on energy each year in Ohio (nearly all of which is imported from out of state).

Going forward, the state of Ohio should invest in more public transportation options to reduce our vulnerability to oil price spikes, create a more economically sustainable and accessible transportation system, give firms and workers low-cost and accessible commuting options, and reduce health-threatening emissions. Investments in accessible public transit options will also spur economic development, increase employment opportunities, reduce urban sprawl and congestion, and create more livable communities for all Ohioans.

A greater investment in public transportation would yield significant positive outcomes not only for many Ohioans but also to help sustain the state's economic recovery. According to the American Public Transit Association, every $1 invested in public transit generates $6 in economic returns, and investments in public transportation projects create nearly 20 percent more jobs than equal investments in new roads and highways.

Respectfully,

Very strange. Your email came to the Rep62 inbox – which I have access to, but don't check since I'm not covering that office now – and not my regular email.

Anyway...I'm not sure how/if right to work would relate to that specific contract. I have seen some articles that say non-compete agreements can be challenged, but we can't speculate on what a court would do. Just for your knowledge, we've had bills on right to work the last 2 GA's, but obviously they haven't gotten done. However, the Speaker is supportive of right to work and the general concepts behind it.

Dear Garret,

My name is Emily and I am the CA working in Representative Maag's office. In the 130th General Assembly Representative Maag introduced HB 152 to remove any requirement under the Public Employees Collective Bargaining Law that public employees join or pay dues to any employee organization and to prohibit public employers from requiring public employees to join or pay dues to any employee organization. I have included a sample response to a constituent who reached out regarding this bill below.

It seems to me the constituent who wrote to the Speaker is addressing more of a legal issue. My understanding from very briefly reading about right to work policies is that they typically do not address non-compete agreements. However, I'm sure this varies by state.

HB 152:

Please let me know if I can be of any help in drafting a response.

We just received this email from a constituent and I was just checking to see if you had any suggestions on possible responses regarding Right to Work laws. Or would it be best just send out a generic response stating we will keep her views in mind. Thanks for the help!

Ohio needs Right to Work laws

Message :

Mr. Rosenberger,

I'm writing you today about an issue that has recently come to our attention regarding a contract between my husband and his employer. The matter in the contract concerns a "non-compete" clause. When my husband accepted the offer recently, it was his understanding the signing of said contract related to a "non-disclosure" which had to do with trade secrets i.e...programming, documents etc. He has since wanted to seek employment elsewhere but, in consulting with attorneys about this contract, it has come to light that there is indeed a Non compete clause preventing him from working for a competing company. For two years. That's whether he quits OR they fire him.

It is my understanding that the states that have the Right to Work laws would not allow this contract to hold up in the court system. We feel that this contract is unjust to the common working individual, such as my husband, and creates a severe hardship in the work force. The employer my husband works for is a LARGE company in the food and beverage industry. With this being said, most all companies in this type of industry ARE ALL competitors. Also I should mention that the contract states, "THIS IS AN AT WILL STATE" which means he can be terminated at any time for any or no reason.. Being such a busy man, I'm hoping that you can take to time to understand what kind of predicament that contracts like these put the working man in. My husband will not be able to work in his field for two years after termination. This is quite unreasonable.

I feel like it would be beneficial for Ohio to be a Right to Work state as well. A law like this protects hardworking men and women. It will keep my husband working in his field and many others working as well.

Thank you for your time and consideration of Ohio becoming a "Right to Work" state.

Dear Garret,

My name is Emily and I am the CA working in Representative Maag's office. In the 130th General Assembly Representative Maag introduced HB 152 to remove any requirement under the Public Employees Collective Bargaining Law that public employees join or pay dues to any employee organization and to prohibit public employers from requiring public employees to join or pay dues to any employee organization. I have included a sample response to a constituent who reached out regarding this bill below.

It seems to me the constituent who wrote to the Speaker is addressing more of a legal issue. My understanding from very briefly reading about right to work policies is that they typically do not address non-compete agreements. However, I'm sure this varies by state.

HB 152:

Please let me know if I can be of any help in drafting a response.

Sincerely,

Emily Spalla - Constituent Aide

Hi Marisa,

We just received this email from a constituent and I was just checking to see if you had any suggestions on possible responses regarding Right to Work laws. Or would it be best just send out a generic response stating we will keep her views in mind. Thanks for the help!

Mr. Rosenberger,

I'm writing you today about an issue that has recently come to our attention regarding a contract between my husband and his employer. The matter in the contract concerns a "non-compete" clause. When my husband accepted the offer recently, it was his understanding the signing of said contract related to a "non-disclosure" which had to do with trade secrets i.e...programming, documents etc. He has since wanted to seek employment elsewhere but, in consulting with attorneys about this contract, it has come to light that there is indeed a Non compete clause preventing him from working for a competing company. For two years. That's whether he quits OR they fire him.

It is my understanding that the states that have the Right to Work laws would not allow this contract to hold up in the court system. We feel that this contract is unjust to the common working individual, such as my husband, and creates a severe hardship in the work force. The employer my husband works for is a LARGE company in the food and beverage industry. With this being said, most all companies in this type of industry ARE ALL competitors. Also I should mention that the contract states, "THIS IS AN AT WILL STATE" which means he can be terminated at any time for any or no reason.. Being such a busy man, I'm hoping that you can take to time to understand what kind of predicament that contracts like these put the working man in. My husband will not be able to work in his field for two years after termination. This is quite unreasonable.

Hi Marisa,

We just received this email from a constituent and I was just checking to see if you had any suggestions on possible responses regarding Right to Work laws. Or would it be best just send out a generic response stating we will keep her views in mind. Thanks for the help!

Mr. Rosenberger,

I'm writing you today about an issue that has recently come to our attention regarding a contract between my husband and his employer. The matter in the contract concerns a "non-compete" clause. When my husband accepted the offer recently, it was his understanding the signing of said contract related to a "non-disclosure" which had to do with trade secrets i.e....programming, documents etc. He has since wanted to seek employment elsewhere but, in consulting with attorneys about this contract, it has come to light that there is indeed a Non compete clause preventing him from working for a competing company. For two years. That's whether he quits OR they fire him.

It is my understanding that the states that have the Right to Work laws would not allow this contract to hold up in the court system. We feel that this contract is unjust to the common working individual, such as my husband, and creates a severe hardship in the work force. The employer my husband works for is a LARGE company in the food and beverage industry. With this being said, most all companies in this type of industry ARE ALL competitors. Also I should mention that the contract states, "THIS IS AN AT WILL STATE" which means he can be terminated at any time for any or no reason.. Being such a busy man, I'm hoping that you can take to time to understand what kind of predicament that contracts like these put the working man in. My husband will not be able to work in his field for two years after termination. This is quite unreasonable.

I feel like it would be beneficial for Ohio to be a Right to Work state as well. A law like this protects hardworking men and women. It will keep my husband working in his field and many others working as well.

Thank you for your time and consideration of Ohio becoming a "Right to Work" state.

Dear Garret,

My name is Emily and I am the CA working in Representative Maag's office. In the 130th General Assembly Representative Maag introduced HB 152 to remove any requirement under the Public Employees Collective Bargaining Law that public employees join or pay dues to any employee organization and to prohibit public employers from requiring public employees to join or pay dues to any employee organization. I have included a sample response to a constituent who reached out regarding this bill below.

It seems to me the constituent who wrote to the Speaker is addressing more of a legal issue. My understanding from very briefly reading about right to work policies is that they typically do not address non-compete agreements. However, I'm sure this varies by state.

HB 152:

Hi Marisa,

We just received this email from a constituent and I was just checking to see if you had any suggestions on possible responses regarding Right to Work laws. Or would it be best just send out a generic response stating we will keep her views in mind. Thanks for the help!

Mr. Rosenberger,

I'm writing you today about an issue that has recently come to our attention regarding a contract between my husband and his employer. The matter in the contract concerns a "non-compete" clause. When my husband accepted the offer recently, it was his understanding the signing of said contract related to a "non-disclosure" which had to do with trade secrets i.e....programming, documents etc. He has since wanted to seek employment elsewhere but, in consulting with attorneys about this contract, it has come to light that there is indeed a Non compete clause preventing him from working for a competing company. For two years. That's whether he quits OR they fire him.

It is my understanding that the states that have the Right to Work laws would not allow this contract to hold up in the court system. We feel that this contract is unjust to the common working individual, such as my husband, and creates a severe hardship in the work force. The employer my husband works for is a LARGE company in the food and beverage industry. With this being said, most all companies in this type of industry ARE ALL competitors. Also I should mention that the contract states, "THIS IS AN AT WILL STATE" which means he can be terminated at any time for any or no reason.. Being such a busy man, I'm hoping that you can take to time to understand what kind of predicament that contracts like these put the working man in. My husband will not be able to work in his field for two years after termination. This is quite unreasonable.

I feel like it would be beneficial for Ohio to be a Right to Work state as well. A law like this protects hardworking men and women. It will keep my husband working in his field and many others working as well.

Thank you for your time and consideration of Ohio becoming a "Right to Work" state.

Dear Garret,

My name is Emily and I am the CA working in Representative Maag's office. In the 130th General Assembly Representative Maag introduced HB 152 to remove any requirement under the Public Employees Collective Bargaining Law that public employees join or pay dues to any employee organization and to prohibit public employers from requiring public employees to join or pay dues to any employee organization. I have included a sample response to a constituent who reached out regarding this bill below.

It seems to me the constituent who wrote to the Speaker is addressing more of a legal issue. My understanding from very briefly reading about right to work policies is that they typically do not address non-compete agreements. However, I'm sure this varies by state.

HB 152:

Subject: RE: Ohio needs Right to Work laws

Dear Garret,

My name is Emily and I am the CA working in Representative Maag's office. In the 130th General Assembly Representative Maag introduced HB 152 to remove any requirement under the Public Employees Collective Bargaining Law that public employees join or pay dues to any employee organization and to prohibit public employers from requiring public employees to join or pay dues to any employee organization. I have included a sample response to a constituent who reached out regarding this bill below.

It seems to me the constituent who wrote to the Speaker is addressing more of a legal issue. My understanding from very briefly reading about right to work policies is that they typically do not address non-compete agreements. However, I'm sure this varies by state.

HB 152:

Please let me know if I can be of any help in drafting a response.

Sincerely,

Emily Spalla - Constituent Aide

Hi Marisa,

We just received this email from a constituent and I was just checking to see if you had any suggestions on possible responses regarding Right to Work laws. Or would it be best just send out a generic response stating we will keep her views in mind. Thanks for the help!

Ohio needs Right to Work laws

Message :

Mr. Rosenberger,

I'm writing you today about an issue that has recently come to our attention regarding a contract between my husband and his employer. The matter in the contract concerns a "non-compete" clause. When my husband accepted the offer recently, it was his understanding the signing of said contract related to a "non-disclosure" which had to do with trade secrets i.e...programming, documents etc. He has since wanted to seek employment elsewhere but, in consulting with attorneys about this contract, it has come to light that there is indeed a Non compete clause preventing him from working for a competing company. For two years. That's whether he quits OR they fire him.

It is my understanding that the states that have the Right to Work laws would not allow this contract to hold up in the court system. We feel that this contract is unjust to the common working individual, such as my husband, and creates a severe hardship in the work force. The employer my husband works for is a LARGE company in the food and beverage industry. With this being said, most all companies in this type of industry ARE ALL competitors. Also I should mention that the contract states, "THIS IS AN AT WILL STATE" which means he can be terminated at any time for any or no reason.. Being such a busy man, I'm hoping that you can take to time to understand what kind of predicament that contracts like these put the working man in. My husband will not be able to work in his field for two years after termination. This is quite unreasonable.

I feel like it would be beneficial for Ohio to be a Right to Work state as well. A law like this protects hardworking men and women. It will keep my husband working in his field and many others working as well.

Thank you for your time and consideration of Ohio becoming a "Right to Work" state.

Hi Marisa and Shawn,

Rep. Pelanda needs some info for an event she has with ABC (Associated Builders and Contractors) in Springboro tomorrow. Attached are some talkers Brad and I prepared for her.

She included some guidelines regarding what exactly she needed... (see below)

1. Your expectations on the caucus 2017 policy priorities.
2. They will want to talk about Kentucky's repeal of both prevailing wage and right to work in the first day of their majority and why Ohio can't do anything labor related.
3. They are interested in workforce development. There is a shortage of high school and college aged young people choosing careers in trades. Some programs designed to help end up providing some training but no connection to the workforce.
4. PLAs remain a priority. The senate will apparently block unless the house insists.

Given the topic, we wanted to make sure you saw these before we sent them along. Any additional info that you think we should include?

Thanks!

Rep. Dorothy Peland
Talking points for ABC
January 9, 2017

2017 caucus priorities

- I expect this to be another very active year in the House and in the General Assembly

Budget

- Of course, the governor will be unveiling his biennial budget proposal at the end of the month
- That is a painstaking process that requires feedback and input from all sides, including the Builders and Contractors
- The governor has previously said to expect this year's budget to be a little tighter, but we will wait and see what his final proposal looks like and I anticipate the many months of hard work ahead
 - Regardless, we must be stewards of taxpayer dollars

Unemployment compensation reform

- Must always be cognizant of potential economic uncertainties by diligently undertaking unemployment compensation reform to ensure the solvency and security of this critical safety net
- We made some great progress over the past couple years toward making our state's unemployment compensation fund solvent
- We will continue to devote great attention to this issue in the several months forthcoming by working with labor and business to find a balanced approach that puts our state on solid footing for years to come

Education

- It is more than just providing adequate funding for schools, although that is important
- Our caucus is firmly supportive of expansive educational options for families—public, private, charter, vocational, career development programs—education is the foundation of everything we do in this state, and all of these options play a major role in success, prosperity and improving workforce development efforts
- It is critical that we ensure greater predictability and certainty in schools so that communities and parents can better respond to local needs, and that teachers have the freedom to prepare our youth for the future

Energy

- Continue to strive and promote free and open markets in all energy sectors
- Greater freedom in these industries will expand our energy options down the road
- What that looks like specifically will be a continued topic of discussion, but the General Assembly passed legislation last year that would have reduced some of the burdens on energy providers (vetoed); expect that proposal and others like it to be revisited this year

Heroin/Prescription drug epidemic

- Sadly, Ohio is home to the most opioid overdose deaths in the country
- Also, one in nine heroin overdose deaths in the United States happen in Ohio
- This is a problem that impacts all aspects of our state: families, education, economy, workforce development
- I believe the legislature has taken important steps to try and curb this problem, but the problem is constantly changing, and our approach must remain diligent and creative
 - Soon, we are unveiling the Ohio HOPES Agenda (Heroin, Opiates, Prevention, Education, and Safety)
 - This is a strategy of treatment, prevention and education, in addition to a more aggressive response to drug-related violence that threatens our communities and law enforcement officers working every day to make us safe.

Details of Kentucky's right-to-work passage and repeal of prevailing wage law

- Republican lawmakers passed right-to-work legislation in a rare Saturday session
 - It is expected to be signed into law by Governor Matt Bevin, which would make Kentucky the 27th state to enact such a law (more than half the country)
 - Republicans in Kentucky had just regained control of the state's General Assembly for the first time since 1921
 - Kentucky was the last of the southern states to adopt a right-to-work law
- They also repealed the state's prevailing wage agreements (PLAs)
 - Impacts publicly financed construction projects
 - State officials will no longer set the wages for construction workers on publicly financed projects
 - Opponents of PLAs argue they inflate the cost of public works projects
- Side note: Since 2012, many states in the industrial Midwest have become right-to-work states, including Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and West Virginia
 - With the addition of Kentucky, Ohio will be nearly surrounded by right-to-work states

Labor-related issues from previous General Assembly

- Senate Bill 152—eliminating residency requirements
 - Balanced approach aimed at increasing competition and being efficient with tax dollars.

- Helps local governments respond to the needs of their communities and constituents, while also making sure they get the most bang for the buck with tax revenue, so that they can address other concerns of the area as well.
- In 2009, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled that requiring employees to reside within a given geographic location violated employees' rights that are protected under the Ohio constitution. SB 152 expands that principle to the hiring of third-party employees, such as contractors.
- Also prohibits a state agency from either prohibiting or requiring a contractor to enter into a project labor agreement (PLA).

Workforce development

- During my time in the legislature, I have learned just how many factors are involved with workforce development—far more than most people would initially think of
 - A strong business climate
 - Promotion of careers in trades
 - Cleaning up the state's drug addiction epidemic
 - Continuing support and interest in vocational schools
- There are jobs openings in Ohio
 - There are currently about 120,000 job openings on OhioMeansJobs.com, half of which pay $50,000 or more—these range in all areas of the economy
 - Our job, then, is to make sure job-seekers are aware of these opportunities, as well as continue to promote the kinds of career and educational programs that correspond to the market's needs/demands
- Major workforce development initiatives from 131st GA
 - House Bill 1 (Schuring)
 - Higher Education Workforce Grant Program
 - The program is designed to incentivize students to pursue degrees and/or certificates of education that match the in-demand jobs of Ohio
 - Creates the Workforce Grant Program to award grants to eligible students who are pursuing a degree or certification that is required to be employed in a job considered to be one of the most in demand jobs in Ohio.
 - Language and funding from this bill were passed in separate pieces of legislation
 - House Bill 3 (Romanchuk, Derickson)
 - Lowering filing fees for starting a business
 - The General Assembly passed HB 3, a priority piece of legislation that reduces the filing fee for new small businesses from $125 to $99, making it cheaper and easier for small businesses to get started in Ohio.

- The bill also updates the OhioMeansJobs website to ensure companies have adequate access to the website and its functions so that employers can be linked with potential employees.
- House Bill 429 (Antani, Reineke)
 - Allows automotive mechanics at retail service centers and auto dealerships to participate in the Ohio Incumbent Workforce Training Voucher Program, granted the individual fulfills the program's other requirements.
 - This program is an initiative to promote workforce development by providing financial assistance to an employer that trains employees already on their payroll.
 - Employees get the benefit of additional training through their workplace, growing companies are reimbursed for the costs of training, and the state reaps the economic benefit from more skilled workers and more successful businesses.
 - With a focus on in-demand professions like advanced manufacturing and information technology, automotive technicians at retail stores can also now participate in the program through the passage of this bill.

Hey guys,

I don't have access to my computer, so I can take a deeper look at these later. But at first glance the section on SB 152 is a little misleading. The Senate did not concur on House amendments for that bill (PLAs), but both chambers did pass HB 180, which was the companion bill for residency requirements. Maybe focus on 180 and she can mention that the House tried to do PLAs twice (SB 152 and the budget).

2. They will want to talk about Kentucky's repeal of both prevailing wage and right to work in the first day of their majority and why Ohio can't do anything labor related.
3. They are interested in workforce development. There is a shortage of high school and college aged young people choosing careers in trades. Some programs designed to help end up providing some training but no connection to the workforce.
4. PLAs remain a priority. The senate will apparently block unless the house insists.

Given the topic, we wanted to make sure you saw these before we sent them along. Any additional info that you think we should include?

Thanks!

Hey guys,

I don't have access to my computer, so I can take a deeper look at these later. But at first glance the section on SB 152 is a little misleading. The Senate did not concur on House amendments for that bill (PLAs), but both chambers did pass HB 180, which was the companion bill for residency requirements. Maybe focus on 180 and she can mention that the House tried to do PLAs twice (SB 152 and the budget).

Thanks Marisa - so is this fair for HB 180? Also, the builders and contractors probably wouldn't be on board with the House's PLA language/ideas, would they?

House Bill 180—eliminating residency requirements

- o Companion bill to SB 152; Senate did not concur on House amendments to SB 152
- o House tried to tackle the PLA piece twice (budget and SB 152)
- o Both chambers passed HB 180
- o Residency requirements typically mandate that contractors hire a certain percentage of residents within a given geographic area for public works projects
- o Because such requirements drive down the supply of contractors who are eligible for projects, they in turn drive up the costs of doing business for local governments, all at taxpayers' expense
- o By eliminating residency requirements, House Bill 180 broadens the market for contractors to compete for city projects, which results in better-quality services at lower costs
- o In 2009, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled that requiring employees to reside within a given geographic location violated employees' rights that are protected under the Ohio constitution
- o HB 180 expands that principle to the hiring of third-party employees, such as contractors
- o The US Constitution states that out-of-state employees cannot be discriminated against

o Therefore, in many cases, a policy that is intended to help local residents find work ends up doing just the opposite by allowing local governments to pass them over for men and women from other states
